Anything Is Pawsible

Meet Phoenix (or Yogi in his early days at Paws Place). Like a Phoenix, rising from the ashes, this little guy fully embraces his name's meaning as a symbol of renewal and regeneration. Phoenix was a stray found in New Hanover County. He was taken to ECVR who in turn called us given they knew he would need a lot of love and attention during his long recovery. We started medicated baths and multiple antibiotics immediately. He was diagnosed with Demodex and Bacterial Pyoderma. And if that wasn't enough, he had bite wounds which had become infected. But, after several months of our care, we were able to start promoting him and he found his forever home almost immediately. He now lives with his best friend, Zelda.

Meet Rayna

♀ Gender: Female

📅 DOB: November 9, 2019

🐕 Breed: Mixed Breed/Terrier

✅ Ready: Available

📏 Size: 43.4 lbs

❤️ HW: Positive - Completed Treatment

Hi! My name is Rayna. I am a bit shy. And kind of scared of fast movements. So I like to take things slow. Since my arrival I have gotten a little better on a leash and will go on short walks. I even let the humans pet me now. I learned I kind of like pets. I'm still a little unsure of the other dogs here so I would prefer to be an only child. I would really like to find a forever home. A family who is patient with me as I adjust to the big move because new environments can be scary. I want to find a family who are like myself, just want to feel loved. Because once I feel comfortable, I am a lover. You should know I tested positive for heartworms, but I have completed my treatments and will be able to run around and go on all the adventures. I may not like to go on walks for long, but I sure do love to sniff around and smell all of the things. I would love to hang out and learn about you! I hope that it happens soon!
